Courses at the Center

Up to twice a year (depending on the number of applications), courses for arthroscopy of the knee and shoulder are held in cooperation with the institute for pathology. The courses begin with lectures on arthroscopic anatomy, and the basis for approaches and arthroscopic techniques.

Hands-on workshops at the pathological institute complete the program.

Additional courses that are held at the teaching center include MRI courses of the musculoskeletal system, courses for manual therapy of the musculoskeletal system, courses for diagnostic ultrasound of the musculoskeletal system, and courses for extracorporeal shock wave application of the musculoskeletal system.

Organization of the Center

Prof. Dr. W.E. Siebert is the director of the clinic. Five orthopaedic surgeons work as consultants, each of them covering subspecializations in sports medicine, spinal surgery, pain, rheumatology, and orthopaedic pediatrics.

All patients are seen in the outpatient department. There, we decide whether further conservative treatment options or diagnostic procedures should be performed.

210 beds at five wards are at the patients' disposal. CT and MRI are available at the clinic. Four operation rooms with modern techniques can be used.
