The Onze Lieve Vrouwe Gasthuis is a large teaching hospital in the centre of Amsterdam, The Netherlands. It consists of a main hospital and two small, satellite day care hospitals in other parts of the city. More than 1000 arthroscopic procedures are performed annually in these 3 centres.

The teaching centre activities include a wide field of arthroscopic procedures in all joints, with special emphasis on:

- Knee Arthroscopy
ACL, PCL, meniscus, tibial plateau fractures surgery
- Shoulder Arthroscopy
Instability, cuff surgery as well as A-C joint surgery
- Other Joints
Elbow, wrist, hip, and ankle arthroscopic procedures are performed

One orthopaedic surgeon in our group is active in the field of thoracoscopic releases in scoliosis surgery.

There is access to the anatomic department of the Utrecht University, where special lab sessions are held with fresh specimens. Several courses are organised in this lab throughout the year.

Surgeons who are involved in our clinic with teaching arthroscopic or endoscopic procedures are:

John Ham, M.D., Ph.D.
 Cor van der Hart, M.D.
 F. de Meulemeester, M.D.
 F. de Nies, M.D.
 Arthur Kleipool, M.D.
 Jaap Willems, M.D., Ph.D.

Funding for fellowships is rarely available. Housing can be arranged.
